Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

There are many advantages, from the standpoint of peace of mind and the quiet life, in living in a small town, and especially in publishing a paper in a small town. One for instance does not have to plunge into politics with a vigor and vim, for the reason that all candidates for town offices are intimately known to everyone, since everyone is a neighbor to everyone else. Nothing the home paper could say about those in the official race could really add or substract from the character that they have already established among their neighbors.

In a big city the situation is different in two marked respects. Any candidate who desires city office must look to the newspapers for a popular "build up." Often when the big metropolitan daily agrees to the "build-up", the publisher will make advantageous terms for himself, terms of which the man-on-street, the Jones, Brown and Smith voters, know nothing about. And in the second place, the emoluments of office consist, not only of a fat salary, but the power to place on the payroll friends of the successful candidate. These evils do not always condition the election of city councilmen in a big city, but often they do.

Thus owing to the fact that the small town is well informed about the merits of all candidates, nothing the editor can say could add to the community knowledge. The only thing the small town editor can do in the community interest is to stress those policies which make for the substantial upbuilding and well being of the little city and to warn against subversive groups which seek advantages for themselves by devious and underhanded methods to the detriment of the community as a whole. That is precisely what the Nugget proposes to do.

We notice that Lloyds, that great English insurance organization, is betting 9 to 1 that there will be no European war within the next six months. We think even that rate is a little high. It might well include a year on the same terms. Because the next war that starts will require even more money to support it, than the last. There has been a vast improvement in slaughtering machines since the World war and they cost more money. An airplane to place tanks where they can do the most damage has recently been invented. It is easy to see what a big advantage this aerial mobility of tanks will give the belligerent which has enough of them.

By landing them back of the front lines of enemy, they could demoralize the countryside and cause a quick withdrawal of combatant forces to suppress the tanks. The tanks themselves now have a speed of sixty miles an hour or better. This one item of tanks, with airplane conveyors, will cost tremendous sums in the next war.

It is lack of adequate finances that will postpone war, we think, for a long time. But come it will, despite the popular outcry against it in every country. Germany, Japan or Italy will inevitably launch the world into another war. They feel oppressed, at least their leadership does, and suffer from inferiority complexes, which can only be cured by victories over hereditary foes. We take little stock in the theory of overcrowded populations, it is an excuse of dictatorship, urged upon their peoples, who in time come to believe it. As a matter of fact the world produces plenty for all, it only requires a higher type of genius to make such trade adjustments as are necessary to assure all of that plenty. Such an adjustment would cost far less than war in money, not to mention the economic loss entailed by war slaughter, famine and disease.

Until most of the World war generation in this country are dead, it would seem extremeley doubtful whether the United States could ever be persuaded to aid the financing of another war. The lesson of the World war has been so clear, so plain that anyone can understand its implications. Nations at war will borrow beyond any hope of ever repaying their loans. Desperate borrowers are poor risks, as the people of this country have learned at the cost of approximately 12-billion dollars in repudiated loans.

Mr. McCauley was born in Nevada City about 72 years ago and received his education in the schools here. He was a plumber by trade.

His late wife was the former Miss Della Carey. Surviving him is his son, Ray McCauley of Oroville and a brother, John McCauley of Nevada City.

COMMITTEES OF CHAMBER NAMED

At the meeting of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night President Fred Conner announced the following committee appointments, which were ratified by the members present:

Highway—Judge R. Tuttle, chairman, R. J. Bennetts, C. E. Clark, H. E. Kjorlie, Geo. Calanan, R. L. P. Bigelow, Oscar Odegaard.

Membership — Frank Finnegan, chairman, Carroll Coughlan, Ted Janis, Loui Kopp.

25th Silver Anniversary—Geo. Calanan, chairman, Chas. Brown, Walter Carlson.

Finance—Horace Curnow, chairman, J. J. Jackson, Ernie Schreiber, Chester Scheemer.

Mines and Mining—Ed C. Uren chairman, Otto Schiffner, A. W. Hoge, Sr., O. McCraney, Geo. Kerwin, H. W. Sheldon, Byron Eastman, W. H. Taylor, 943 Russ Bldg., San Francisco; Theo. Larsen.

Promotion and Welcome—C. E. Bosworth, chairman, Oscar Odegaard, Carl Tobiassen.

Winter sports — Dick Parsons, chairman, Geo. Schroeder, Walter Carlson, Frank Davies, Arthur Hoge, Jr.

By unanimous vote E. M. Rector and R. J. Bennettts were added to the list of directors.

Charles M. Brown announced that the day for the silver anniversary dinner for the chamber had been set for April 15, but that since there was to be a joint meeting with the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce at near that date, when Secretary Dudley of the Sacramento chamber will be a guest, it had been decided to leave the date open.

E. C. Uren stated that it had been suggested that a friendly brief be filed by mining interests in the appeal by the You Bet Mining Company from the judgment rendered in Placer county against it and in favor of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

He stated that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company could by the building of another canal divert the water it used from the bed of Bear River, which was the only natural outlet for tailings from the hydraulic mines west of the Central Pacific Railroad.

The river, he said, had been as an outlet for these mines since the early "fifities." He also stated there was on record in the recorder's office of Nevada county an agreement between the company and Maquire in which the company agreed it would not interfere with any mining on the river, and that meant hydraulic mining.

He said that it would not be long before the company would take steps to prevent the dumping of quartz tailings in the rivers, and that it had already notified the Lava Cap Mining Company that it must build its dam higher to restrain its tailings, and the Zeibright mine would be the next.

C. E. Clark suggested that he understood that an oppropriation of about $465,000 had been provided for in the Bear River Dam construction under the recent act of Congress which would be over and above the amount provided for dam construction. This would be used to construct a canal which would divert the mine tailings from the river.

Mrs. Douglas Smith of Berkeley and telephone official, attended to business matters in Grass Valley this week and visited with his uncle, C. E. Bosworth and family of Gold Flat Wednesday evening.

ATTACHMENT PLACED ON EMPRESS MINE

The machinery, equipment and other tangible property at the Empress mine has been attached by the Alpha Hardware Company of Nevada City.

The Republic Gold Mining Company, which operates the Empress, owes the hardware company approximately $13,770.

The Empress, which had been employing ninety men, was shut down last week when the shaft began squeezing together. E. C. Jacobs had announced the company planned to sink a new shaft. A 300 ton daily capacity mill was installed about a year ago.

It is understood the ore at the Empress has good value but the shaft trouble has been prevalent for more than a year and occasionally operations were halted for repairs.

Drive For Scout Fund To Open Soon; Court Of Honor Is Held

At Monday night's meeting of the Boy Scout council much enthusiasm developed in the forward steps which have recently been taken in this organization. There are now forty members of the Nevada City Scout troop and it is hoped before long to establish a second troop. Horace Curnow, president of the council, heard encouraging reports from the building committee of which Judge Raglan Tuttle is chairman. It was voted however to defer building activity until later in the year, while the immediate needs of raising the usual maintenance fund of $325, Nevada City's quota of the Tahoe Area expenses were taken care of.

For the purpose of raising the annual subscription to this maintenance fund, President Curnow appointed a large committee, who will meet next Monday evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and receive their assignments.

Scoutmaster George Schrader reported an excellent attendance of the boys at their weekly meetings and several candidates for merit badges and promotions. These candidates appeared last evening in superior court room where Judge Tuttle presided at a court of honor.

A large attendance of parents and friends of the boys were present to witness the ceremony and the presentation of badges and emblems of promotion. The following awards were made:

Tenderfoot rank—Reggie Kennedy, Phil Joyal, Kenneth Worthley, Norman Kopp, Joe Wiedauf, and George Schrader.

Merit badges—Clem Organ, Dick Bennett, Bob Tucker and Bud Ducessi.

Life scout—Clem Organ.

Star scout—Dick Bennett.

Movies of winter sports, supplied by the State Chamber of Commerce, and of beavers at work, supplied by the Forestry Service were exhibited. These are described in another article in this issue of the Nugget.

FOREST SERVICE CHANGE OPPOSED BY N. C. CHAMBER

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce is on record as opposed to an attempt now being made in Congress to transfer the Forest Service Bureau from the Agricultural department to the Interior department. A telegram to this effect was sent to Congressman Harry Englebright and Senator Hiram Johnson last week over the signature of President Fred Conner. The telegram reads:

"Refer to H. R. Bill 11,642, changing name of Department of Interior to Department of Conservation. We protest this bill. It is apparently opening wedge for Senate Bill 2,665, and Robinson Bill, H. R. 11,046. to transfer the Forest Service from the Agricultural to the Interior Department."

In response to this telegram President Conner received the following letter from Congressman Englebright:

"My dear Mr. Conner:

"Your telegram with reference to H. R. 11,642 proposing to change the name of Department of the Interior to the Department of Conservation at hand. And as usual I was pleased to hear from you.

"Permit me to advise you that I have been opposing this measure, and you may rest assured of my continued energetic opposition to the same. With kindest regards, I remain.

Sincerely yours
HARRY L. ENGLEBRIGHT.

DEFRAUDED AN INN KEEPER

Hugh W. Morrissey, charged with defrauding an inn keeper March 25, was brought before Judge W. L. Mobley yesterday forenoon by Chief of Police Garfield Robson and given until 3 o'clock to leave Nevada City and Nevada county for good. Judge Mobley instructed the police officers to see that the court order was obeyed. Morrissey went into Schreibers Cafe and ordered a meal and did not have money to pay for it.

Morrissey was arrested March 21 and charged with disturbing the peace. He plead guilty and was given 90 days in the county jail, the sentence was suspended pending good behavior.

ACCUSED TRAFFIC OFFICER FOUND GUILTY, DEMOTED

As a result of a hearing Tuesday before E. H. Christian, chairman of the California Traffic Personnel Board, Inspector Frank Quinn of the State Traffic Patrol assigned to Nevada, Placer, Sierra and Yuba counties, was found guilty of drunken driving and hit and running and was demoted from inspector to patrol and on recommendation of E. Raymond Cato will be transferred to some other district in the state.

The proposal for demotion and transfer were acquiesced in by Quinn and his attorney, William B. Hornblower, state senator from San Francisco. On the stand Quinn had denied all the allegations of drunkenness contained in Cato's complaint. It was admitted, however, that he was the driver of a car which struck another car parked in Grass Valley on February 13, and that he had failed to stop. Clarence Watson and Fred Blye Sacramento inspectors testified that following the accident, Quinn stated he would pay for damages entailed to Gus Merrill, owner of the parked car, but wished to keep his identity secret.

NEVADA CITY FIREMEN TO PLAY ALLEGHANY

The Alleghany basketball teams will play return games with the two Nevada City Fire Department teams in Armory Hall Saturday evening.

A fine crowd of enthusiastic fans turned out to witness the well played game in Alleghany between Nevada City and Alleghany recently. The score was rather close, 39 to 28, Nevada City winning and many good plays were made by individual members of both teams.

The Nevada City first team lineup is, Verlod, Krasevac, A. Pierce, H. Wright, Hawke and Skhehan.

Alleghany has several players of considerable experience that will keep the local team on the jump from start to finish. Thomas Hogan, former Nevada City boy, played on St. Mary's team; George Baker, New York university team; and Elmer Hawke, was a member of the Grass Valley high school teams.

Messrs. Henry and Herbert Paine of Lake City were Nevada City visitors Wednesday.

Why Mention The Boy Scouts?

By A. V. NAPIER, in the Verde Copper News
Jerome, Arizona.

"Why do you give so much space to the Boy Scouts?" asked a man this week. He had contributed a lengthy article on a moral subject of considerable general interest and it had not been used in the Verde Copper News. He thought we should have held out the Scout news to publish his article. The editor would like to print everything that everybody wants printed, but with limited space, someone has to exeertise his best judgment in the selection of matter, so the editor just does the best he can in selecting his own matter.

"The Boy Scouts are just a bunch of kids," the author above mentioned said. "Nobody cares about what they do."

But the editor has never seen a Boy Scout drunk nor in jail. The only time we ever saw a Boy Scout in police court was when the boy gave testimony against a hit-and-run driver.

The editor lived with Boy Scouts for several years. If he wanted to hire a boy for any responsible position he would insist on his being a Boy Scout.

Scouting builds into a boy's makeup strong fibres of character. It makes him staunch of heart and strong of mind. It has proven itself to be a builder of true manhood. Every Boy Scout is an influence for good where he lives. Every Scout organization helps to encourage and preserve the lessons of clean living, of manly courage, of industry and thrift, of the obligation of helpfulness to those needing help, and of all the things that make for right living.

Scouting makes real Americans out of thoughtless youths. If every boy in America were a member, our country soon would have the finest citizenship in the world. If every boy in the United States were a Scout there would be few, if any, gangsters and gun men at the end of twenty years. If all the boys were Scouts there would be no need for any newspaper to publish lengthy articles regarding the nation's morals.

But Scouts have other training besides moral development. They are trained in life saving. In the Florida disaster last year Boy Scouts saved hundreds of lives. They are active not only in time of disaster, but in every day life. They are taught first how to take care of themselves. They are then taught how to take care of others. The Boy Scout motto: "Be Prepared," is, if applied to life generally, the greatest possible factor in success.

We might leave out the editorials to make room for contributions which patrons desire printed, or we might, just might, mind you, curtail the advertising matter to make room for something else, but so long as this editor has any voice in the matter the Boy Scouts can have any blamed thing within the bounds of reason.

TWO BILLS IN CONGRESS WOULD HALT RADICALS

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—Two measures now before Congress, the Tydings-McCormack bill (H. R. 5845) and the Russell-Kramer bill (H. R. 6427), are not obtaining the support which from their nature it was hoped they would. The former would make incitement to disaffection within the armed forces a crime. This bill passed the U. S. Senate at the last session of the Congress, and was reported out of the House Military Affairs Committee. The Russell-Kramer bill would make the advocacy of the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence a crime. This bill was reported out of the House Judiciary Committee at the last session of Congress.

The extreme radicals of the country are said to be the most active opponents of these measures. The principal argument advanced against these bills by all opponents is that they endanger those liberties evolved by the Anglo-Saxon race through the centuries and strike directly at the freedom of the press and free speech, provided for in the U. S. Constitution.

The proporents of the measures contend that the freedom of the press and speech are not in effect prohibited in these bills except in so far as parliamentary principles of government may be abandoned for force or violence engendered by varbal and written incitement. Our government, they point out, is founded on parlimentary procedure, with the greatest latitude for discussion of political issues, both verbally and by the written word; furthermore, that the purpose of the constitutional provisions for a free press and free speech was to provide against any necessity of resorting to force and violence in bringing about governmental changes desired by the citizens.

The power of the government to act in protecting itself against change by incitement to violence is shown in the following citations o the majority opinion of the U. S. Supreme Court, term 1924, in the Gitlow Case:

"And a state may penalize utterances which openly advocate the overthrow of the representative and constitutional form of government of the United States and the several states by violence or other unlawful means. * * * In short, this freedom does not deprive a state of the primary and essential right of self-preservation, which, so long as human government endure, they cannot be denied."

Mr. H. P. Speiss, principal, Grass Valley high school, Grass Valley, has been appointed the military training camps association representative for Nevada county. He will be in charge of the association's activities in enrolling suitable young men for the 1936 Citizens' Military Training Camps.

"Citizens Military Training Camps annually make better citizens of thousands of young men," according to Spiess in commenting on his appointment. "The training teaches them teamwork and consideration for others. The sports program and regular life develop them physically. I am happy to be chosen to offer this opportunity to the young men of this county."

WINTER SPORT FILMS SHOWN

At a meeting of scouts, scout councilmen, camp fire girls and the sports enthusiasts, held Wednesday evening a preview of the State Chamber of Commerce films showing winter sports in the Sierra recreation grounds was shown. The sports of sleighing, mushing with dog teams, cross country skiing, the slalom, ski jumping, ice skating, snow shoeing, bob sledding and ash can coasting were depicted. Many of the film sections were taken at Cisco, where the Auburn ski club has its winter headquarters.

There followed a film showing the industrious beavers at work in their native habitat. George Schrader and Leland Smith described an experiment now being made in the game refuge above Sierra City where several pairs of beavers have been placed on a stream, and have gone to work building dams and rearing numerous offspring. Beavers were shown cutting down six and eight inch trees, conveying logs to their dam, plastering the structure with mud, living in their well constructed houses, and digging canals down which they floated their winter wood and bark fodder, and materials for their dams.

Miss Adeline Deason, who was quite ill from an extracted tooth, has returned home from the hospital in Lodi and is able to be about, which is good news to her many friends.

LAVA CAP MINE

Sinking has been completed to the ninth level in the Central shaft and a station cut. Plans are to start drifting north on the vein in about two weeks. Work of enlarging and clearing the tunnel that connects the Central and Banner shafts has progressed about half way, or 3,800 feet.

Mr. George Miller, one of the large stockholders in the Lava Cap mine from New York City, has just visited the property. He is homeward bound from a trip around the world. Superintendent O. E. Schiffner stated Thursday that he has 210 men employed at the Lava Cap property.

SPIRITUALS OF 300 YEARS AGO SUNG BY WHITES.

The hymns sung by Oliver Cromwell's Ironsides on their way to battle, by John Calvin's Dissenters in their Highland hiding places and by the Hugehnot followers of de la Motte in the French prisons are still sung by their descendants in Alabama and neighboring states.

They were carried to Virginia in the prison ships by Scotch and English refugees after the restoration of Charles II; while the Hugenots, in flight from France, carried them to North Carolina.

As these pioneers forged their way into the mountainous regions of the new world, their songs sustained them among natural hardships.

Centuries passed and in the isolated mountain regions, especially those of Alabama, the songs lived on with out competition, handed down like hierlooms from father to son. Today the hymns are the same as they were 300 years ago.

Supervised musical training among the mountaineers, did not begin until about 1860, when M. L. Swan, an itinerant music master, settled in Jackson County, Tennessee. He is said to have used a seven sharp "Harp of Columbia" in setting the pitch for his choristers. From this novel instrument, the singers in Jasper derived their designation as "Greek Harp Singers." This organization gave its first public concert in 1873. In 1909, a state wide organization of "white spiritual" singers was formed under the name of the Alabama State Sacred Harp Musical Association. It has now 110 community groups under its wing. Every July, the groups send delegates to take part in the three day "sing" at Birmingham.

The Association not only keeps alive the ancient hymns, but also the traditions of the music classes of other days. Seated about a large table, the singers are directed by a concert master who uses a pitch pipe to strike the lead notes. They first intone their "so-lo-fa's" and then join in singing the words. The writer who looked up the activities of the Association in preparing articles on Alabama for the American Guide —the government's forthcoming 5-volume travel handbook — learned that only the old hymns handed down by the followers of Cromwell, Calvin and de la Motte are used in concert programs. The reason that these are called "White Spirituals" is to distinguish them from the far more widely known colored spirituals.

Some of the "White Spirituals" are widely known by old American families, though not under that classification. In many a home of the land, Grandma's musical repertoire includes the antique favorite, "Paradise," which begins:

"There is a land of pure delight,
Where saints immortal reign;
Infinite day excludes the night,
And pleasures banish pain, and pleasures banish pain."

Southern California interests are developing the property.

BENEFIT CARD PARTY AT SAN JUAN TONIGHT

(By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE)

Don't forget that this is Friday the 27th and the big whist party in the school house at North San Juan. And don't forget that every twenty-five cents taken in tonight will be used to buy a piano for the school.

There will be three valuable prizes. North San Juan is rapidly becoming famous as the town that really gives prizes worth playing for and this party will do better than that and have extra nice ones for tonight. There will be a twenty-five cent admission charge at the door which include refreshments. Mrs. Sydney Strand, elementary teacher, is holding a children's party at her home so the folks can leave the little ones in good care while they attend the party at the schoolhouse.

DOCTOR URGES TEST FOR CHRONIC SPEEDERS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Persons who are obviously unfit to drive an automobile or who repeatedly and chronically defy or ignore public safety mechanisms and regulations, should be subjected to a mental and physical examination. This is the openion of Dr. E. W. Twitchell, clinical professor of neuropsychiatry of the University of California Medical School. According to Dr. Twitchell it would not be practicable to subject every driver or prospective driver to such an examination, but it certainly should be done in the case of those who persistently defy necssary driving restrictions and menace the lives and limbs of others.

According to Dr. Twitchell the automobile mortality and accident situation may be expected to become much worse before the people of the country rise up and unitedly demand relief. The number of incompetents now driving cars is constantly on the increase, and it is presumed that this number must increase to the saturation point of human tolerance and endurance before there is a change.

Dr. Twitchell states he has occasionally found it necessary to submit reports to the State Division of Motor Vehicles regarding patients who wre obviously unfit to drive. In one instance, he said he obtained cancellation of the license of one insane man who was being permitted to operate his car freely on crowded streets and highways. Another taxicab driver in one of the San Mateo peninsula towns who was suffering from a severe nervous complaint also came to his attention, and he has warned a number of epileptics and members of their families that these sick persons should not drive an automobile.

Miss Beth Curnow who attends the University of California is spending the week end with her parents.

SCIENTISTS GATHER MANY RARE FLOWERS

BERKELEY, Mar. 27.—The state of California, long famous for its wild flowers, is gradually, through the assistance of science, becoming one of the world's garden spots, for nature's most beautiful ornamental plants.

Combining business with pleasure, botanists at the University of California in the course of their scientific studies of plant life are gathering previously unobtainable flowers and shrubs from the far corners of the earth to aid in beautifying the state.

These facts are pointed out by the University Explorer in announcing the subject for his adventure in science, to be presented over the Columbia Don Lee System tomorrow (Sunday) night at 9:30 o'clock. The title of this adventure will be "Hunting Plants by Airplane."

The theme of the story will be an expedition to South American recently completed under the direction of Professor T. H. Goodspeed, director of the University Botanical Gardens.

Harley Leete, Jr., came up from Berkeley today to visit his parents.

CAMPTONVILLE SIGNS UP FOR PUBLIC LIBRARY

(By RITA DAVIS)

Pres. "The Woman's Club of Camptonville

CAMPTONVILLE, March 26.—Out of over a hundred persons whom we contacted locally, only two refused to sign the petition for a free county library; one, a war veteran, tax exempt, who gives no reason for his stand; the other, a woman, guardian of four children, who bases her refusal upon her eleven year old charge, saying: "she won't read anything but 'True Confessions'," and then she objects to the small tax!

Our community loses most of its young people when they finish all the schooling they can get here, second year high school. The very few parents who can afford it send their children to other cities to continue their education. Those boys and girls who are not so fortunate, generally leave home, anyway, the best way they can, seeking their livelihoods elsewhere. Rarely do any of them return. A community which loses its future citizens cannot grow. A county whose rural towns remain stagnant is not worthy of the taxation which supports it.

Books are knowledge! A free, local library, with its proper kind of books, its opportunities for higher education, both in culture and in trade is an advantage that every American citizen is entitled to. Having the opportunity for self-advancement, there is at least some inducement for the rising generation to remain at home, to better and to build our local communities by native citizens, ably equipped for the task.

Our only available libraries are thirty miles away, besides being in other counties. We are ineligible for membership. Those of us who fib our way into membership know that it is an imposition upon the taxpayers of those counties, while we have the added expense of transportation. Even postage to and from the state library is much more expensive than the low annual tax rate and by far less satisfactory, than a convenient branch system.

So far as politics and politicians are concerned, we quote from the column "Thinking Out Loud" by H. M. L., of the Nevada City Nugget of March 20: "If the supervisors are wise, politically and otherwise, they will heed the plea (for a library). They might as well have the honor of establishing this institution as some later board."

LIGHTS FOR ROUGH AND READY

Two or three residents of Rough and Ready had their homes lighted for the first time by electricity Tuesday evening, the P. G. & E. company having completed the line into the town. Several other homes were lighted Wednesday as wiring of the houses was completed.

HENRY HUCKINS OF N. SAN JUAN IS LAID TO REST

Funeral services for the late Henry Huckins of North San Juan were held in the Methodist church of North San Juan yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. H. H. Buckner of Nevada City and officers of the Masonic Lodge officiated at the impressive ceremony.

Friends, from far and near gathered to pay their last respects to a beloved friend and comrade. Henry Huckins was known by everyone on the Ridge. Interment was in the San Juan cemetery.

Henry W. Huckins was born in North San Juan in 1871 and spent practically all of his life on the ridge. He attended school there and was engaged in various activities there.

For many years he conducted a store and gas station there. In 1934 he disposed of this business and devoted his time solely to his mining interests.

Henry Huckins was a member of George H. Marshall Post of Spanish American War Veterans, Gravel Range lodge No. 59, F. and A. M. of Camptonville and the Scottish Rite bodies of Sacramento.

Mr. Huckins is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kate Huckins and sisters: Mrs. Eva Coverdale, Vallejo; Mrs. Lucille Anderson, Yuba City; step daughters: Mrs. Effie Winlecki, Oakville, Wash.; Mrs. Mae Carelock, Oakland; Mrs. Ruby Lavezolla, of Downieville; Mrs. Lola Cleveland, Camptonville; sister in law, Mrs. Rose Huckins, Yuba City; several nieces and nephews.

The late Shebley Huckins was a brother of the deceased.

The W. R. Jefford and Sons Funeral Home had charge of funeral arrangements.

UREN IN CHARGE OF DEVELOPING RISING SUN MINE

News has just been received the Rising Sun mine one and a half miles west of Colfax is to be opened up by New York City capitalists who have a bond and option. The mine is owned by the Valentine Estate of New York. It was worked in the early 80's by Coleman Brothers, and J. H. Neff, the latter being a lieutenant governor of California at one time. Coleman Brothers also owned the Idaho Maryland mine in about the same year. The Rising Sun mine has a past production of over $2,000,000 at a depth of 750 feet.

The property has a ten-stamp mill and complete mine equipment for operation. E. C. Klinker opened the Rising Sun between the years of 1921 and 1927, but did very little development work. His work consisted mainly of running a drain tunnel.

The new company plans to sink the shaft and develop the mine at depth. Mr. Ed C. Uren, mining engineer of Nevada City will be in charge of development work at the mine.

W. N. Baker and W. E. Moulton, business men of French Corral, were Nevada City visitors Wednesday.

Mrs. Nellie Uhrig of San Juan was a Nevada City visitor yesterday.

Little "Bubby" Lysterup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lysterup of Grove street, is quite ill at the family home with an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Mary Bennett, student at Stanford University is spending her spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth Bennett.

VOL. 1. MARCH 27, 1936. No. 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Smith are having alterations and some re-modeling done on their home on Clay street. The work is being done by Mr. John Richards.

Plate mirror bath room cabinets are almost indispensible in the modern bath room. We have a large selection to choose from, steel or wood cases with full Venetian mirrors and glass shelves. The cost of these cabinets is reasonable.

Mr. J. W. Johns is in charge of modernizing the home of Mr. and Mrs. Farmer on upper Boulder street.

Protect your investment in your home by keeping it well painted. A good paint job done when necessary keeps your home in as good shape as the day it was completed. Just take a look at some of the fine old homes in this community that have had proper paint protection and compare them with others that have not had such care.

Mr. Ben Stedham is erecting a small home on his property on Nimrod street in Nevada City.

UNWELCOME ADVICE

A Scot consulted a London specialist who told him he must give up drinking.

Very disgusted, the patient was walking to the door when the doctor called him back.

"The fee for my advice," he said "is two guineas."

"That's all right," replied the Scot. "I'm no' taking your advice."

DEBRIS REMOVED BY SUCTION

It is estimated three or four months will be required to clean debris out of a large reservoir that supplies water for the Halsey power house about 10 miles below Colfax. Erosion over a period of years from different streams has carried silt and gravel into the reservoir. A steel hull suction dredge is being assembled at the Halsey power house. It is expected it will cost $100,000 to remove by suction process the 400,000 cubic yards of debris. The dredge and pump will be operated by electricity.

CROWDED OFF ROAD

Virgil Davis and James Brady, both young men of Nevada City, while enroute to town early Thursday morning over the Downieville highway, were crowded off the road and received minor injuries when their car turned upside down in Rush Creek. Suggestions for your Two Weeks Vacation

You can vacation far from home if you go by train

BECAUSE swift air-conditioned trains travel night and day, covering nearly 1,000 miles every 24 hours.

In two weeks you can make a leisurely trip East (low summer roundtrip fares start May 15). And you can go on one of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes and return on a different one, seeing twice as much.

Southern Pacific meals are inexpensive. Complete luncheons and dinners cost as little as 80¢, breakfasts 50¢. In coaches and tourist sleeping cars, sandwiches are served for 10¢, coffee or milk 5¢, doughnuts 5¢, etc.

EXPOSITIONS. In two weeks you can see the California Exposition at San Diego (now to Sept. 9) and the Texas Centennial at Dallas (June 6 to Nov. 29). Southern Pacific serves both.

MEXICO. In two weeks you can visit this really foreign country. Air-conditioned Pullmans to Mexico City on our West Coast Route via Mazatlan and Guadalajara. A very inexpensive trip.

ALASKA. In two weeks you can cruise up the beautiful Inside Passage and back, if you save time by using the train to and from Pacific Northwest ports.
